About this SEO factor:

4xx errors often indicate problems on the site. For example, if you have broken links on the page, and visitors follow them, they may see a 4x error. It is important to regularly monitor these errors and find their causes, as they can have a negative impact and reduce the credibility of the site in the eyes of visitors.

✔ Resources with status code 5xx (0 resources)

Great job! There are no 5xx errors on your site.

About this SEO factor:

5xx error messages are sent when the server detects an error or problem. It is important to regularly monitor these errors and find their causes, as they can have a negative impact and reduce the credibility of the site in the eyes of search engines.

✔ 404 page is configured correctly (Yes)

Good job! Your 404 page is configured correctly.

About this SEO factor:

A custom 404 error page can help you keep users on the site. Ideally, it should inform users that the page they are looking for does not exist, and it should contain such elements as: HTML sitemap, navigation bar and search field. But more importantly, the 404 page should return the 404 server response code. This may seem obvious, but unfortunately this rarely happens.

According to the Google Search Console:

"Returning a code other than 404 or 410 for a non-existent page ... can be problematic. First, it tells search engines that this page has a real page. As a result, a page with that URL can be viewed and its content indexed. Due to the fact that Googlebot spends time on your non-existent pages, your new unique URLs may not be found quickly enough or not visited often enough, which may affect the indexability of your site. We recommend that you always return 404 (Not found) or 410 (Gone) for non-existent pages. "

✔ Robots.txt file (Yes)

Great job! Your site has a robots.txt file.

About this SEO factor:

The Robots.txt file is automatically scanned by robots when they enter your site. This file should contain commands for robots, for example, which pages of the site should or should not be indexed. If you want to close some content from indexing

(for example, pages with personal or duplicate information), just use the appropriate rule in the robots.txt file. For more information about such rules, read <http://www.robotstxt.org/robotstxt.html>.

Remember that the commands contained in the robots.txt file are more recommendations and not unquestionable rules for robots. There is no guarantee that disobedient robots will not check the content that you have banned.

✔ .xml sitemap (Yes)

Great job! Your site has an .xml sitemap. Do not forget to reload it to the search engines after making changes.

About this SEO factor:

The .xml sitemap should contain all pages to be indexed and should be located in the folder immediately following the start page.

page in the site structure (example: <http://www.site.com/sitemap.xml>). This is necessary for the most complete indexing of the site. .xml map should be updated after each addition of new pages. In addition, the sitemap must have a specific syntax.

This kind of map also allows you to set the priority for each page, thus informing the search engines which pages of your site should be crawled more often than others (say, if they are updated more often). Instructions for creating .xml maps can be found here.

i Pages closed from indexing (98 resources)

Some pages of your site are closed from indexing. It is recommended to double-check the robots.txt file and make sure that the pages with useful content are indexed and not prohibited by mistake.

About this SEO factor:

There are several ways to prevent search engines from indexing the page:

- Using robots.txt;
- using the tag Noindex X-Robots;
- using the Noindex meta tag.

Each of these items is a string of HTML code that tells how search engines should scan specific pages on the site. In particular, such a tag tells the robot that the page is prohibited for indexing, following its links and / or archiving content. Therefore, make sure that pages with unique and useful content are available for indexing.

Revised versions with www and without www (Yes)

Good job! Versions of addresses with www and without www on your site have already been fixed.

About this SEO factor:

Usually websites are accessible with and without the "www" in the domain name. The merging of these two versions will help to avoid their indexing by search engines as two different sites.

Although indexing the two versions is not a violation, assigning one of them as a priority is a good tone rule, in part, because it helps to concentrate the search value of links to one common version. You can set the main version of site pages with www or without www in the .htaccess file. Alternatively, you can set the priority domain in Google webmaster tools.

✔ HTTP / HTTPS version issues (No)

Your site has no problems with duplicate content in HTTP / HTTPS versions.

About this SEO factor:

If the HTTP and HTTPS versions of your site are not configured correctly, both versions can be indexed by search engines, which will lead to problems with duplicate content. To fix this, it is recommended to set one version (HTTP or HTTPS, depending on the content on the page) as a priority.

✖ 302 redirect pages (144 pages)

You have found 302 redirects on your site. Since the use of these redirections is largely limited, make sure that their use is justified.

About this SEO factor:

Redirects 302 are temporary, and reference weight does not pass over them. If you decide to use this type of redirect instead of 301 redirect, search engines can continue to index your old web address and ignore the new one to avoid duplicates. Or they can split the reference weight equally between the old and new pages, worsening your position in the issue. Therefore, it is not recommended to use the 302 redirect if you decide to finally place the page or site at a new address. In this case, it is better to use 301 redirection to save the entire reference weight and to avoid duplicating the web address.

i 301 redirection pages (30 pages)

301 redirects were found on your site. Make sure that all of them lead to relevant pages and are configured correctly.

MrArkhipov!

The product of the online store is displayed in two different categories with different URLs, and both must be working - you can indicate with the help rel = "canonical" tags which page should be considered a higher priority. It is necessary to correctly register in the <head> tag of the page and indicate which page should be shown in the output.

✔ HTTPS pages with mixed content (0 pages)

Great job! No problems with mixed content were found on any of your HTTPS pages.

About this SEO factor:

The use of an encrypted connection is recommended for many sites (for example, for sites that accept payment or collect user data.) But in some cases, there may be some technical problems when switching from HTTP to HTTPS. One of these is the so-called problem of mixed content: when there is content available on the HTTPS pages that is accessible via the HTTP protocol.

Such cases significantly reduce the overall security of the page, since unencrypted content is available for interception and can be changed by third parties. Therefore, in many modern browsers such content may be blocked for download, or it will be loaded with the message "Insecure Connection".

According to the Google classification, there are two types of mixed content: active and passive.

Mixed content of the passive type does not interact with the rest of the page elements, so in the event of an attack on the site, the attacker will be quite limited in his ability to intercept and change the content. The passive type includes: images, video, audio and other resources that can not interact with other elements of the page. The active type of mixed content allows an attacker to gain complete control over the page. The active type includes scripts, styles, iframes, flash resources and other types of code that the browser can download and execute.

⊖ Mobile Adaptation (N / A)

No data for this factor.

About this SEO factor:

According to official information from Google, the algorithm of adaptation for mobile devices affects mobile results for all local versions and is of great importance for the position in the issue. The algorithm analyzes each page separately: the search engine does not check how well your site is optimized for mobile devices, whether the page is optimized or not.

This algorithm takes into account such criteria as font size, location of links, readability of content, and others..

✔ Pages with duplicate rel = "canonical" (0 pages)

Good job! There is no duplicate code rel = "canonical" on the pages of your site.

About this SEO factor:

Using a double rel = canonical element on a page is often associated with the use of various SEO plug-ins, which by default add rel = canonical without the knowledge of the web developer. Checking the page code and the rel = "canonical" setting in the HTTP response of the server can help correct the situation.

Using multiple rel = canonical can lead to the fact that all of them will be ignored by search engines, as a result, the site will get problems with duplicate pages.

✔ Frame Pages (0 pages)

Great job! On the pages of your site there are absolutely no Frames.

About this SEO factor:

Frames allow you to display more than one HTML document in the same browser window. As a result, text and hyperlinks (the most important signals for search engines) appear to be missing in such documents. If you use Frames, then search engines will not be able to index your valuable content, and they will not rank your site high.

HTML error pages (-)

About this SEO factor:

Verification takes place using the W3C markup validation service. Although adherence to W3C standards is not mandatory and will not have direct consequences for website promotion, errors in the code, however, can affect the indexing of the page content by search engines. It is recommended to correct all errors in the HTML code of the site in order to avoid possible problems with search engines.

Pages with errors and warnings in CSS (-)

About this SEO factor:

Testing is performed using a W3C third-party service according to the standard of the World Wide Web Consortium.

CSS styles are used to control the design and format of the page, and also need to separate the layout of the page structure from its appearance to speed up loading.

Errors in the CSS code are not so critical for search engines, but they can lead to incorrect display of content for users, which will affect the traffic and the level of page faults. Therefore, make sure that the page content is displayed correctly in all the necessary browsers, including mobile versions.

External links dofollow (272 links)

External dofollow links found on the site.

Please review the list of outbound links and make sure they lead to quality and relevant pages. It is recommended to remove any links that lead to sites of dubious quality, or add the attribute rel = "nofollow" to them. To do this, simply add the attribute rel = "nofollow" inside the tag .

About this SEO factor:

In simple words, dofollow links are links that do not have the rel = "nofollow" attribute. Search engines follow such links, and they participate in rankings (links can also be closed using the nofollow meta tag).

Although outgoing links themselves do not harm, but if your site has many external links to irrelevant sites or low-quality pages, search engines may decide that your site sells links or participates in other schemes, with the result that the site may hit under the sanctions of search engines.

✔ Beaten images (0 images)

About this SEO factor:

Although broken images on the site do not directly affect its ranking in the search engines, however, they should be corrected for several reasons.

First of all, they affect the usability of the site, so users can quickly leave the page, because they will not receive the necessary information.

Secondly, broken images prevent the site from being properly crawled and indexed, as a result of which search engines can skip and not index any important content.

ⓘ Empty alt text (1,125 attributes)

The site has images with empty alt attributes. For all images, add alt text, which will describe the image itself, and also, if possible, contain keywords.

About this SEO factor:

Since search engines cannot read text from images yet, the use of special attributes (alt) helps to indicate what is shown in the pictures.

It is best to create a separate alt text for each image on the page, using your keywords whenever possible - this will help search engines to correctly determine the page content and enhance it in their output.

⚠ Pages too big (5 pages)

Some pages on your site are larger than 3 MB. It is recommended, if possible, to reduce their size.

Too large pages can adversely affect the ranking of pages and worsen their usability, therefore, it is desirable to reduce their size in order to speed up loading.

Web page	Full size
https://magictouch.clinic/ourteam/sergeyk-richevskiy/ שם המטפל: סרגי קריצ'בסקי - קסם ומגע	13.1 Mб
https://magictouch.clinic/gallery/ גלריות Archive - קסם ומגע	6.4 Mб
https://magictouch.clinic/rent/ השכרת חדרי טיפול וסטודיו - קסם ומגע	5.2 Mб
https://magictouch.clinic/ קסם ומגע - עיסויים וטיפול גוף מכל העולם Tantra massages	4.6 Mб
https://magictouch.clinic/blog/tantra-articles/ טנטרה - קסם ומגע	3.2 Mб

About this SEO factor:

There is a direct relationship between page size and download speed, which, in turn, is one of the ranking factors. As a rule, large pages load longer. Therefore, it is considered good practice to keep the page size up to 3 MB. Of course, this is not always possible: for example, if you have an online store with a large number of images, the page size will easily go beyond the specified 3 MB, while the page loading speed for slow Internet users will significantly decrease.

About this SEO factor:

Broken outbound links can spoil the impression of your site for search engines and users. If the site has a lot of broken links, then we can assume that it has not been updated for some time. As a result, the site position can be lowered.

Although 1-2 broken links will not cause penalties from Google, try to regularly check your site and fix broken links, if any. Also make sure that the number of broken links is not growing. In addition, users will be grateful to you if you do not show links to non-existent pages.

i Pages with too many links (81 pages)

Your site has pages with more than 100 outbound links. Check these pages and, if possible, reduce the number of outbound links.

About this SEO factor:

According to Matt Cutts (the former head of the Google team to combat web spam), "... after all, there are enough reasons not to use, say, more than 100 links on one page: this is primarily bad for users. If you put more than 100 links from the page, it can stun your users and lead to a bad experience on the site. The page may seem good to you until you look at it with the user's eyes and see how it is perceived by the person who first came to your site.

"Although Google representatives talk more often about the "experience of visiting the site," in practice, having too many links from a page can lead to a deterioration in your position in the issue. So the rule is simple: the fewer links on a page, the less problems with positions. Therefore, it is better to adhere to generally accepted best practices and put no more than 100 outgoing links (external or internal) from one page.

✔ Empty title tags (0 pages)

About this SEO factor:

If the page does not have a title or the title tag is empty (i.e. it just looks like this in the code: <title> </title>), Google and other search engines can take any text from your page to display it in the output. This way, you won't be able to control what people see on Google when they find your page.

Thus, each time you create a page, do not forget to create a meaningful title that would be attractive to users.

✘ Duplicate headers (2 pages)

Some pages on your site have identical (or duplicate) headlines. Please analyze the problem pages and rewrite the headers to make them unique.

https://magictouch.clinic/category/מאמרים/tantra/	טנטרה - Archives קסם ומגע

About this SEO factor:

The title of the page is often regarded as its most important element. This is a strong signal of relevance to search engines, because the title tells them what the page really is about. Of course, it is important that the name includes the most valuable keywords. But it is even more important that each page has a unique title - in this way the search engines will not have any problems with determining which of the pages of the site are related to a particular query. Pages with duplicate headings are less likely to rank high. Moreover, if your site has pages with duplicate headings, other pages can also be difficult to get high marks.

⚠ Headers are too long (1 pages)

Some of your headings are longer than 70 characters. Analyze and rewrite them.

About this SEO factor:

Each page should have a unique title containing keywords. At the same time, you should try to make the title not too long. Headings longer than 70 characters may be cut off by search engines and look unattractive in search results. You strive to ensure that your site appears on the first page in the issue - but if its title is abbreviated and incomplete, it will not give you the number of clicks to the site that you deserve.

⚠ Empty meta description (77 pages)

Some pages on your site do not have meta descriptions. Analyze these pages and write meta descriptions for them.

About this SEO factor:

Although meta descriptions do not directly affect the ranking, they are still important because they form snippets that people see in the results of search results. Thus, they should “sell” the page to the person who sees it in the issue, and encourage them to follow the link.

If the meta description is empty, then the search engines will decide what to insert into it.

✔ Duplicate meta descriptions (0 pages)

About this SEO factor:

According to Matt Cutts, the meta description should be unique or should not exist at all. This is better than showing the same meta description for all pages. That's why you should make sure that your most important pages have unique descriptions containing keywords.

✔ Meta description too long (0 pages)

About this SEO factor:

Although meta descriptions do not directly affect the ranking, they are still important because they form snippets that people see in the results of search results. Thus, they must “sell” the page to the one who was looking for it and encourage them to follow the link. If the meta description is too long, then search engines will cut it off and it may look unattractive to users.

✔ Language versions (0 variants)

Great job! All your hreflang elements meet the requirements.

About this SEO factor:

If your site has several different language versions, then the best way to tell search engines about their presence will be using the hreflang elements.

This section contains a list of all hreflang element values that were found on the project domain pages. You can also familiarize yourself with Google's recommendations (<https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/189077>) on the proper use of hreflang for multilingual sites.

✔ Pages with hreflang elements (0 resources)

Congratulations! No problems were found with any of the localized pages.

About this SEO factor:

This factor checks the hreflang elements that were used on the project website pages.

✔ Incorrect language codes (0 resources)

Congratulations! All hreflang elements have the correct values.

About this SEO factor:

This factor analyzes and checks the values of all hreflang elements found on your pages. One of the most common mistakes is the use of incorrect notation for languages and countries. For example: 'en-UK' instead of 'en-GB'.

All hreflang values must comply with ISO 639-1 standards (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_ISO_639-1_codes) if only language versions are specified, or ISO 3166-1 Alpha 2 standards (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/ISO_3166-1_alpha-2), if both the language and regional versions are indicated. You can also use the value "x-default" to specify pages for which there is no other, more appropriate language / regional version.

✔ Empty URLs (0 resources)

Great job! All hreflang elements use the correct URL format.

About this SEO factor:

This factor checks all URLs that are used in the hreflang attributes on your site. Make sure that the full URL addresses are used for each language / regional version of the page, including the http:// or https:// protocols. Relative URLs are not allowed in hreflang attributes.

✔ No backlinks available (0 resources)

The site does not have any language or regional versions of pages.

About this SEO factor:

Each language version of a page should have hreflang attributes that point to both the page itself and other language versions of this page. It is also important that all language / regional versions point to each other through their hreflang attributes.

Example: there is a page in English (en), which has 2 other language options - in Russian (ru) and German (de). The title of the English (en) page should contain 3 hreflang elements: one should point to the English page itself, and 2 others to its Russian (ru) and German (de) versions. In turn, the German (de) and Russian (ru) variants should also have 3 attributes hreflang, which indicate the English version, each other and themselves. Otherwise, if the pages do not link to each other, then their hreflang attributes will be ignored by search engines.

✔ Conflicting elements hreflang (0 resources)

The site does not have any language or regional versions of pages.

About this SEO factor:

This section checks for the presence of conflicting hreflang elements: each page variant should have only one language attribute (ex.: per page "en" and "de" attributes should not be assigned at the same time). Nevertheless, it is possible to bind the same language, but for different regions, for example: en-US and en-GB.

✔ Non-canonical pages with hreflang elements (0 resources)

The site does not have any language or regional versions of pages.

About this SEO factor:

This section lists all pages that use hreflang elements, but also have canonical elements that point to another page. This combination of elements can confuse search engines, since different URLs are offered for indexing. The best solution would be to either remove the canonical tag, or link this item to the same page.

✔ Missing "x-default" (0 resources)

The site does not have any language or regional versions of pages.

About this SEO factor:

This factor checks for the presence of pages on which hreflang elements are used without the value "x-default". Using the value of "x-default" is not mandatory, but it is a good way to tell search engines which version of the page to use for languages and regions for which hreflang attributes have not been assigned.

✔ Incomplete values of hreflang elements (0 resources)

The site does not have any language or regional versions of pages.

About this SEO factor:

This factor analyzes all pages that have hreflang language / regional attributes and checks that these pages also contain the value "x-default" and specify a common URL for users from unmarked regions but using the same language. Example: a page may have separate options for English-speaking users from Canada (en-Ca) and Australia (en-Au), but it is also necessary to make a common page for English-speaking users from other countries.
