

Nowadays, the problem of climate changes is one of the most important in the whole world. Everyone thinks about it because these changes influence on us. In every country climate has the tendency to change and now it is much different than few years ago.

For example, in my country climate has become much warmer. Winters are damp, without snowing and with a lot more higher temperature. Now winters remind late autumn with rain, mist and grace-force.

In my opinion, climate changes are directly connected with human activity.

Firstly, people are too obsessed with money, so they use every opportunity to earn more even if it is harmful for environment. Many woods are cut down for businesses result in a lot of kind of animals disappear and many territories are flooded. Cutting forests down causes such a climate change as changing weather in winter and summer.

Secondly, using private transport. People use it even when there is not any necessary. It causes dangerous emissions that have direct influence on environment. The main problem that is connected with it is the threat of global warming.

Finally, there are many factories and plants that causes CO₂ emissions.

Unfortunately, society tends to increase the number of them that has terrible results such as appearing of ozone hole.

So, people can influence on environment and climate change and their activity is not always benefit for the planet.

Fortunately, the situation on Earth is not critical and if everyone be more conscious we can save beauty and safety of our planet. We just need to follow some principles. The main of them are reducing private transport and pollution and also planting more trees.

Just remember you and your activity are important to the World.
