

<title>Find someone's location on iPhone</title>

<head> Learn how to track lost iPhone, child's or employee's whereabouts on iPhone. Read more to find someone's location on iPhone.</head>

<h1>Make your choice how to find someone's location on iPhone </h1>

You wish your close people to be safe, use the iPhone to locate them anytime and anywhere. Thirty years ago, people were thankfully glad to talk to their relatives in distance, ten years after they could see each other due to the video calls, now they want to know where someone is and what is doing.

Past detective's dream comes true. Modern gadgets are equipped with various tools to check whereabouts easily. Apple has developed special native tracking applications for iOS devices. This article is handpicked on the different methods, which help to track the places of someone's location on the iPhone.

There are many cases when someone may need to find out where someone is, from simple curiosity to quite serious fears for their lives. You can extract the iPhone users' current location both secretly and quite openly.

<h2>Locate another iPhone with the owner's permission</h2>

You take care of your family and friends, so they willingly agree to share with you their whereabouts.

Before choosing the most appropriate way of tracking someone's iPhone, be aware of your and someone's iPhone version.

	iOS support	Available app for allocation
No additional programs to download	13 or later	Find My app (merging Find My iPhone with the Find My Friends apps)
	13 or later	Programme Family Locator (combine Find My iPhone & Find My Friends functions)
Need to download from the iOS App Store	8	Find My Friends app
Stock app is on the device	9	Find My Friends app
	11 and 12	Find My iPhone app
	11 or later	iMessage app

Family Sharing app

Family Sharing is not the only app for entertainment such as using together content, acquired due to iTunes, App Store or Apple Music. This app allows six family members on different Apple ID's to see each other location.

To use GPS options for Family Sharing app with Find My iPhone, you need to start with setting up the Family Sharing Group by applying an Apple ID and logging in to iCloud. Then the family group organizer sends invitations to all members. One iPhone can't participate in different groups at a time.

Text shortened

<h2>How to find someone's missing iPhone</h2>

Joining the Family Sharing group and enabling the geolocation sending to the family members, they will be able to help to search your device in case of its loss.

<h3>Find My iPhone</h3>

Tips how to “stuff” your iPhone to find it easier:

- Switch Find My iPhone on before you lose your device;
- Activate the Last geolocation Notification with the battery is low - this will help to detect a loss with a dead battery;
- Put “Notify me” and request sending a Notification by e-mail when the found device is connected to the Internet, if it is not currently active;
- Use the “Medical Record” function in the “Health” application (available with iOS 8), fill in “Contacts in case of emergency”;
- Enable the option “The lock screen” - then someone, who has found your phone, will be able to contact you after seeing a message with a backup number.

The best solution in case of lost or stolen iOS device is to:

- Go to <https://www.icloud.com/#find>, log in with your iCloud account;
- Enable the Find My iPhone mode;
- Insert your password and Apple ID.
- After that, you can easily see the location of your iPhone and even its movements around the city.

Or

- Access the Find My iPhone app on other iOS device;
- Tap All Devices menu, then choose your missing iPhone.

If the green dot is located next to the device, named in the list, then the iPhone is online and its current location is displayed. Find My iPhone will track the device's movements as long as Lost Mode is active.

If all the search methods are unsuccessful, you can remotely (even if the phone is turned off or the battery is low):

- Lock access to your iPhone data;
- In extreme cases, completely Erase your database on the gadget.

Changes will take effect immediately upon startup. You will not be able to use the iPhone after such deletion.

Find someone's location on iPhone without their knowing

The parental monitoring apps are helpful to detect kids' location, using their iPhones remotely. Such third-party control apps, which installed on both kids' and parents' cell phones, are the most reliable and popular among parents. Their Pros is that children can't stop tracking from their devices as it's possible in case of using Find My or other native iPhone tools.

KidsGuard Pro

Buying KidsGuard Pro premium plan, after app installation without jailbreaking, you receive a remote unlimited access to your child's iPhone and tracks GPS locations.

You should pass successfully iCloud account verification to be connected to KidsGuard Pro's web control panel, where you'll monitor your kid's iPhone, see updated data on the Locations tab.

Text shortened

Conclusion

There are many iPhone location-tracking apps in the market. Don't trust free spying services, they can be either useless or fake. It's up to you whether to risk by jailbreaking the iPhone or not to spy someone's location. Choosing jailbreak, your iPhone data can be vulnerable to hackers' attacks.

Concerning iCloud, if you and your relatives wish to be safe and share your location anytime, you should know and remember that:

- To access information, your relatives need to know iCloud account password;
- Location data is sent over the Internet through a Wi-Fi connection or via mobile Internet;
- In places where network access is not available, the location cannot be determined.

That's why all tracing features only work if geolocation and remote control are enabled on the iPhone.

Anyway, be careful, if you are driven by curiosity and slight suspicion. Trust is not easy to regain. Depending on your situation, make the right choice on how to find someone's location on iPhone!