

Creative Writing – Tolibaeva Xulkar

(Short fiction, English)

- ♦ Title: The Light in Room 402

Every evening at 7:15, the light came on in Room 402.

No one had seen who lived there. Some said it was a writer. Others — a ghost.

Mira watched from across the street, notebook in hand, waiting for the moment.

One day, she wrote a letter and slipped it under the door:

“Your light gives me hope. Whoever you are, thank you.”

The next night, the light flickered twice.

That was the first time Mira smiled in weeks.
