Main areas of activity

Web and mobile development (Python, Angular, .net, Node.JS)

Web development is a necessary element in the development process of any business, becoming an integral part of the strategy of attracting customers and sales. Customers have tasks and we solve them.

Implementation of large projects (ODOO)

Our strength is large and complex projects. Historically, we started with such projects and never gave up on them. The harder the better. It is always a challenge, new experience, and new knowledge.

Low-code and No-code

No-code/low-code solutions promise to simplify and speed up time-consuming software development processes and are the future of the IT industry.

Why you should trust iT.Artel?

- Experience and expertise

Our portfolio is replenished with implemented automation projects for both small companies that needed automation of accounting only, and large automation projects of manufacturing companies with the connection of a lot of specialized equipment, large production cycles, and training of a large number of specialists (users). Since 2003, we have been helping companies to be and remain competitive, regardless of changing business conditions.

- Solutions, not just services

We specialize in the design, engineering, development, and implementation of solutions, not just service delivery. We change the traditional idea of partnership with an IT provider, focus on obtaining real results for your business, and help in opening new prospects for its development.

- People and team

Our philosophy is that personnel decides everything. This approach during 19 years of work brings results: positive feedback from customers and their desire to return to us with new tasks.

Get real satisfaction and peace of mind from using IT products with high-quality support and assistance at all stages of work.
